英文原文

On 23 June 2018, twelve boys aged 11 to 16 from a junior football squad went on an outing with their 25-year-old assistant coach. They entered Tham Luang, a sprawling maze of tunnels in northern Thailand, to penetrate its gloom. Monsoon rain then flooded the passages, and the rising water trapped all of them.

For nine days their whereabouts were unknown. On 2 July two elite British divers, threading through submerged passages, reached an inundated chamber about 4 km from the entrance. All 13 were there, huddled on a muddy mound and perched just above the water, every one of them alive.

The only exit ran through kilometres of constricted, treacherous passages, many of them navigable only with scuba gear. Rescuers began stockpiling oxygen cylinders along the route. On 6 July Saman Kunan, a former Thai Navy SEAL, fell unconscious while laying them and died.

The evacuation began on 8 July, and the boys came out in batches. Each was given doses of sedative, wrapped motionless in a stretcher, and passed from diver to diver, with medics stationed along the route. On 10 July the last four footballers and their coach were escorted out after their teammates.

The multinational mobilisation was a feat of logistics. Some 10,000 people converged on the site, including a contingent of more than 100 divers, plus 2,000 soldiers and 900 policemen, with teams deployed from abroad. The rescue had a sobering postscript: in December 2019 another Navy SEAL died of a blood infection caught during the operation. Every boy came home alive, and two rescuers were mourned.

中文译文

2018年6月23日，一支少年足球队的十二名男孩与25岁的助理教练外出游玩；孩子们年龄在11至16岁。他们进入泰国北部的睡美人洞，深入这个隧道交错、向四方延伸的幽暗迷宫。随后季风雨淹没通道，上涨的水将所有人困在洞内。

整整九天，没有人知道他们在哪里。7月2日，两名英国精英潜水员穿过淹没的通道，到达距入口约4公里的一处进水洞室。十三人全在那里，挤在一处刚高出水面的泥土堆上，每个人都还活着。

唯一的出路要经过数公里狭窄、暗藏危险的通道，其中许多路段只有借助水肺装备才能通行。救援人员开始沿途布放、储备氧气瓶。7月6日，前泰国海军海豹突击队员萨曼·古南在布放气瓶时失去知觉，随后死亡。

撤离于7月8日开始，男孩们分批出洞。他们分别接受镇静药，被固定包裹在担架中，保持不动，由潜水员逐段接力运送，沿途有医护人员驻守。7月10日，最后四名小球员与教练继其他队友之后，被护送出洞。

这场跨国动员堪称后勤协调的壮举。约一万人汇集现场，包括100多名潜水员组成的队伍，以及2000名士兵和900名警察，还有从国外调派来的救援团队。但救援还有一段令人沉痛的后续：2019年12月，另一名海军海豹突击队员死于救援行动中染上的血液感染。每个男孩都活着回家，两名救援者却长留在人们的悼念中。
